Ainsworth and Talmadge to Deliver Commencement Addresses June 9-10

ANNUAL MAY DAY FESTIVITIES HELD

LOUISE QUANTOCK QUEEN OF MAY; 275 TAKE PART—MANY VISITORS FOR OCCASION.

Amid a scene of natural beauty and loveliness, the annual May Day festivities were celebrated here Friday afternoon with Miss Louise Quantock, of Sanford, Fla., as Queen of the May.

The outdoor theatre, scene of the celebration assumed a beauty unsurpassed except for these yearly celebrations, when Miss Quantock led the procession to the stage near the banks of Lake Wells and there was crowned.

Hundreds of visitors for the occasion were in turn amused and quiet, when the gayety or solemnity of the festivities of 275 participants moved them.

Edward and Carlton Carruth were heralds for the queen. Miss Margaret Owens was maid of honor, with the following ladies in waiting: Cecile Brannen, Evelyn Cherry, Mayo Cody, Victoria Cone, Lilly Ellis, Eloise Graham, Jewelle Greene, Helen Olliff, Iris Roberts, Mabel Rocker, Cleo Trapnell and Kathryn Yeomans.

Pages were Buddy Barnes and Bruce Carruth; train-bearers, Alva Singley and Gene Henderson; clowns, Isabel Cross, Mary Jane Hodges, Hugh Hodges, Burnie Mallory, Kathryn Tedder, Wilkins Smith and Nancy Young.

Girls of the Freshman and Sophomore classes in physical education did various dances for the queen and

Group Enjoys Informal Social Hour At Home of President Pittman Last Saturday Evening

Members of the George-Anne staff were entertained at a dinner Saturday evening given by President and Mrs. Marvin S. Pittman at their home in Statesboro.

Those attending this affair were Alton Ellis, J. D. Purvis, Nancy Young, Marvin McKneely, Louise Quantock, Eloise Graham, Lofton H. Giddens, George Carter, Elwyn Wilson, Bill Garrison, Hemans Oliver Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Donaldson.

After dinner the group enjoyed an informal social hour.

Students Receive Annuals Thursday

The Reflectors are here!

Announcement comes today from Leonard Kent, editor, that the Teachers College yearbook will be available to students Thursday of this week. A special assembly will be held for distribution of the books, and only those who have met the requirements will receive annuals at that time.

This year's Reflector is bound in black leather bearing a modernistic design, about 9x12 inches in size and is 125 pages in length. The book is divisioned according to administration, classes, activities, features, athletics and advertisements.

It carries a leisure arts motif throughout and its most striking feature is the artistic depiction of life on the campus of Teachers College. The designing, in all cases the work of local talent, was under the direct supervision of Miss Mary Small, art director.

FIFTY STUDENTS ENTERED MONDAY

TO TAKE TWO-HOUR CLASSES AND RECEIVE WHOLE COURSE CREDIT—FEW OLD ONES BACK.

Fifty students, including several who have previously attended here, have enrolled for the spring short term which began Monday, April 29. This number is a decrease from former years.

Those regular students who have been out for the past quarter and have returned are Bill Bennett, Letha Waters, Irene Enecks, Frances Woodcock and Woodrow Powell.

Those who are new or have attended spring sessions or summer sessions are: Ruby Ashmore, Era Bagwell, Leona Barbee, Inell Baxter, Mrs. Elva Bland, Mary Sneed Burch, Lois Blanche Carter, Clifford Clark, Dolores Cook, Estelle Davis, Evelyn Dyess, Kathryn Dyess, Velveer Geiger, H. D. Harrison, Gertrude Hart, Maude Herrington, Clara Lee Johnson, Frances Knox, Georgia Lawson, Susie Lawson, Wilba Lee Liles, Lucile Moore, Madaline Moore, Dorothy Newton, Encil Oliver, Johnnie Bell Rawls, Lilla Riggins, Mary Edna Sellers, Lena Smith, Mabel Smith, Ethel Streetman, Thomas Strickland, Myrtle Swanson, Jennington Tyre,

GEORGIANS TO ADDRESS SENIORS AND LARGE GROUP OF VISITORS

Flying Particle Hits Eye—Proves Puzzle

Statesboro doctors were puzzled Thursday when a student brought a case before them which called for serious consultation before reaching a decision as to just what the trouble was.

Mary Davis, the student, had been the victim of a flying particle which struck her in the eye while watching a tennis match. On wiping her eye with a handkerchief, Mary found little white worms on it. She could take them out, but more appeared. Of course she went to a doctor.

And there is where the puzzle began—the M. D.'s didn't know what it was. Microscopic study revealed Mary to have been the victim of screw worms.

DEBATING TEAM MAKING A TOUR

ARGUE SOCIALIZED MEDICINE WITH MERCER AND UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA FRESHMEN.

The inter-collegiate debating team, under the direction of Dr. C. M. Destler, will leave tomorrow for its spring tour of North Georgia. Both the negative and the affirmative teams will make the trip which includes appearances at Mercer and the University of Georgia.

Tuesday evening Lofton Giddens and Bob Espy will uphold the negative side of the question of socialized medicine against the Mercer University Freshmen. Thursday evening will send George Carter and Hearn Lumpkin against the University of Georgia Freshmen in their defense of the affirmative of the question.

These two teams have debated three times this season, the negative meeting the University of Florida Freshmen here on March 20th, and then going to Tifton on April 24th, where they met Abraham Baldwin. The affirmative team has debated only once, meeting Abraham Baldwin here on March 24th. All debates have been non-decision.

Conflict with examinations at Wesleyan has necessitated the cancellation of the engagement with that team.

TALMADGE SPEECH EAGERLY AWAITED

OUTSTANDING SPEAKERS TO END SCHOOL YEAR—MANY VISITORS EXPECTED.

Bishop William Newman Ainsworth, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and Eugene Talmadge, governor of Georgia, have been announced as the speakers for the eleventh annual commencement exercises at South Georgia Teachers College June 9-10.

Bishop Ainsworth will deliver the commencement sermon in the college auditorium at 11:30 a. m. Sunday, June 9th. Governor Talmadge will make the commencement address the following morning in the auditorium at 11:00 o'clock.

Ainsworth was elected bishop of the Methodist Church in 1918. Previously he had served as pastor in churches at Dublin, Savannah, Montezuma and Bainbridge. His present home is in Macon.

Since his being made bishop, Ainsworth has taken an active part in public life. At present he is interested in the coming repeal vote in this state.

Governor Talmadge, whom the college administrators have been urging to visit this institution for a number of years, has accepted President Pittman's invitation to speak to the class of '35.

It is a policy with this school to make commencement season a period

GEORGE-ANNE HAS COLLEGE SECTION

National College Weekly May Soon Become a Regular Feature of the George-Anne.

Today's George-Anne includes the Collegiate Digest, sent for special distribution with this issue by Gerhard Becker, of Madison, Wisconsin. If the Digest is favorably received it is quite likely to be a regular feature of the G.-A. next year.

More than 230 college publications throughout 43 states furnish their readers with the Digest. If this publication subscribes for the Digest, local personalities and events will occasionally be featured.

CARTER TO ATTEND BLUE RIDGE TRAINING CONFERENCE JUNE 11-20

OTHER STUDENTS TO BE SELECTED

INCOMING "Y" PRESIDENT RE-VIEWS YEAR'S WORK AND ANNOUNCES PLANS FOR 1936.

George Carter, recently elected president of the Y. M. C. A., will represent South Georgia Teachers College at the Students' Training Conference at Blue Ridge, N. C., on June 11-20. He will be accompanied by one or more students to be named later by the Young Men's Christian Association.

Carter came to the Teachers College from Cusseta, Ga., in 1933 with an outstanding record of leadership behind him and has continued his work here.

Regarding his plans for next year's program Carter said, "Anything we shall plan at present for our work here next year will, of course, be tentative, but one thing you may be certain, we are going to continue the 'Buddy' group much the same way as carried out last fall by Purvis. This, I believe, was one of the year's greatest achievements."

The Teachers College Y. M. C. A. is the first organization known to institute this method of contacting new students, and the plan received much commendation at the students' conference held at Wesleyan in March.

"We shall be able to profit by last year's experiences and we hope to have these lists of Freshmen out at least two weeks before the fall term opens. 'Y' mass is to be continued and something will be done to get even a greater response to this new phase of students' work. Many things that were begun last year were new to our student body and of course will have to be given time before they will be recognized by all as a part of the students' life here on the campus. In view of this fact, we have only to look forward to a bigger and more successful year ahead of us."

With the aid of the administration Carter hopes to broaden the work of the deputation team to cover a larger field in the work which is now being directed by R. L. Winburn.

A regular Y. M. C. A. room in West Hall has been set aside for the boys next year and here will be placed books, magazines, newspapers, etc., for use by the students. This was begun last fall but the room next year promises many more advantages than are now available.

A cabinet meeting will be called next week of both old and new officers in which problems confronting this organization for next year will be discussed.

GRACE CROMLEY REPRESENTS YW

ORGANIZATION PRESIDENT AND IDA MAE HAGAN TO RECEIVE TRAINING AT BLUE RIDGE.

Grace Cromley, president, and Ida Mae Hagan, council member, will represent the Y. W. C. A. at the annual "Y" camp at Blue Ridge, N. C., in June.

The camp at Blue Ridge is for Y. M. and Y. W. workers all over the United States, and while there the T. C. delegates hope to gain much valuable experience for the coming year. Last Summer J. D. Purvis and Elwyn Wilson represented the local organizations.

Other Y. W. C. A. workers may accompany Misses Cromley and Hagan.

SETTLES CHOSEN CLUB PRESIDENT

McKneely, Ellis and Carter to be Bachelor Officers in 1936—
New Pledges Taken.

Alton Settles, senior, Waycross, has been elected to the presidency of the Bachelors Club, T. C.'s oldest social organization. Settles succeeds Leonard Kent, Summit, in this office. Others chosen to lead the club for 1935-36 are: Vice-president, Marvin McKneely, Griffin; secretary, Alton Ellis, Griffin, and George Carter, Cusseta, treasurer.

In addition to the Bachelor pledges announced in the last George-Anne, four men should be added to the list. They are: George Cliett, Blakeley Thornton, John Barger and Warren McGlawn.

when the most outstanding men obtainable are asked to visit the school. In past years, Georgians of high station in religion, education and public affairs have spoken before the graduating classes.

An unusually large number of alumni, friends and parents are expected to attend this year's exercises.

Governor Talmadge's address is being keenly anticipated, in view of his recent political activities.

wound the May pole. Groups from the Training School also did dances and marches.

The Women's Physical Education Department, under the direction of Miss Caro Lane, presented the festivities.

EXPLANATION

Following a widespread practice of colleges and universities which send delegations to the summer training conference at Blue Ridge, N. C., this issue of the George-Anne is published primarily by the Young Men's Christian Association here. In addition to the regular staff of the paper, whose co-operation has been fine in every instance, the following students have done meritorious work and deserve to be recognized. They are: Bill Stewart, Mabel Rocker, Ione Gilliam, S. D. Duncan and George Donaldson, one time sports editor, who returns to that role for an issue and demonstrates his same keenness in analyzing T. C. sports. Lofton Giddens and George Carter, regular staff workers, have taken special interest in the Blue Ridge edition and deserve a great deal of credit for its publication.

It is yet indefinite as to just who will represent the Y. M. C. A. at Blue Ridge. George Carter, president for next year, will be there. Two or three other young men who are interested in the "Y" work may go by assuming part of their expenses. Tentative plans have been made to present a benefit play during summer school. If this is done there will be more representatives at Blue Ridge than ever before. Operating on a limited financial schedule as the association does, funds must be raised for the trip. Young men who want to go to the conference may get definite information by discussing the matter with R. L. Winburn.

HISTORIC SITES IN THREE DAYS

HISTORY GROUP ON ANNUAL TOUR OF STATE—MEMBER
MAKES INTERESTING NOTES.

That Georgia is truly "The Empire State of the South," is a fact well established in the realization of twenty students and faculty members who were on the Georgia history tour last week end. This trip was directed by Miss Hester Newton. Places prominent in the making of the state from its earliest founding through its part in the War Between the States were visited.

A marker on the spot of the historic battle of the Revolution in which Count Pulaski figured so prominently was the first place visited by the party Friday afternoon. This marker is located near the Central Station in Savannah.

Historic Wormsloe Gardens, the old plantation home of Noble Jones and his descendants, and now maintained by W. W. DeRenne, was the next place of interest. Here the party viewed, besides the gardens, the DeRenne Library which contains many valuable historical documents and pictures of the owners of Wormsloe. Before leaving the gardens, the group visited old Fort Wimberly and a slave hut.

The next place visited by the party was Bethesda Home, founded by the Reverend George Whitfield in 1740.

On the next day, Saturday, the party visited numerous historic spots about Savannah, among them the Independent Presbyterian church, Christ Church, the City Hall, Yamacraw Bluff, the Colonial Cemetery and Fort Pulaski, now being reconditioned for a national park.

Next on the list came Midway, where the group visited old Midway Church, the cemetery and the site of Sunbury. At Darien they saw the old Spanish Missions built in the 16th century.

The party spent Saturday night at the Ocean View Hotel on St. Simons Island. The next day they visited the Cloister Hotel; the site of the Battle of Bloody Marsh; the site of Oglethorpe's only Georgia home, near Frederica; Christ Church and the Wesley Oak, where John and Charles Wesley preached to the early colonists. Not far away was the site of Frederica. This the party also visited and inspected the remaining corner of the old fort.

On returning to the mainland the party visited the Lanier Oak, under which "The Marshes of Glynn" was written. After this they started on their homeward journey.

A ROYAL RETREAT

Blue Ridge is the Mecca of all southern college students. For twenty-three years groups of college men and women from all the southern and southwestern colleges have been meeting at this royal retreat of the South. The place was originally founded that students might go there for inspiration, recreation and fellowship. During these twenty-three summers more than twenty thousand undergraduate men and women have found joy and uplift at this spot. One student says that a period at Blue Ridge is worth "a half a year in college without any 'exams' at the end." Another student, now a professor at the University of Chicago, has maintained that his stay at Blue Ridge was the greatest single period of his life. Another leader has said that Blue Ridge was the best equipped conference grounds in the world. To attend a conference at Blue Ridge is to spend a period rich in vision and understanding with representatives from a hundred colleges.

Not only students, but thousands of other people are renewed in mind, body and spirit at Blue Ridge every summer. Located in the heart of the most rugged section of the Blue Ridge Mountains, it is the ideal vacation spot of North Carolina. The estate covers sixteen hundred acres of virgin forest, with crystal-clear streams and hillsides, gorgeous with masses of rhododendron, azalea and mountain laurel.

There are tennis courts, volley ball courts, basketball courts, handball courts, a beautiful lake for swimming, boating and fishing, and miles of shady woodland trails for horseback riding and hiking. Every convenience is available—comfortable rooms, cozy house keeping cottages, efficiency apartments and an abundance of excellent food. From Blue Ridge pleasant outings may be taken to many nearby points of interest such as Mount Mitchell, the highest point east of the Rockies; Chimney Rock, beautiful Lake James and Lake Lure, Little Switzerland, Shumont Peak, the Biltmore estate, Grove Park Inn, Pisgah National Forest.

Last summer three hundred seventy-six students from eighty-two southern colleges were present for the summer conference. Teachers College was represented then, as well as the year previous, by leaders from the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A., and others will attend this summer.

INSTRUCTION STANDARDS

Any attempt to appraise the worth of such training and advantages accorded our students by the particular array of professors composing our local teaching staff, would, on the face of it, be rather ludicrous. With matriculation limited to only one institution, a comparative study would be impossible. It is a popular conception, however, and as apt to be erroneous as not, that the so-called big shots in education are connected with larger, far larger institutions than ours. But to those more philosophically inclined this assumption does not carry so much weight.

That Teachers College students get the benefit of far-sighted and thoughtful professors is indicated by the present situation in national affairs. Opposition to the New Deal has grown to a strength which might have seemed incalculable in this section a number of years ago.

Yet students under Dr. Hoy Taylor, in November, 1933, were given benefit of a far-sighted prediction backed by sound logic.

Dr. Taylor, in reviewing the recent occurrence in politics at that time, November, 1933, pointed out that the United States might be paving the way for powerful opposition to the New Deal. Even possible defeat at the polls. Quite an unusual statement—at that time. But time has borne the beloved "Buttercup" through! Tammany's overthrow; New York's mayoralty election; Pennsylvania's and Ohio's voting wet; North Carolina's voting just the reverse of President Roosevelt's personal request carried to the state by a cabinet member; Ford's rejection of the code, and the Farmer's Strike probably meant little to the average student. But to Dr. Taylor this meant something more far-reaching. And Teachers College students were among those privileged to know of such an interpretation.

In retrospect we see this: A majority of our present staff may be just as keen, and it's our loss if we fail to pay attention in the classroom.

ON GRADING

That something ought to be done in public schools regarding the "grading" system, if it is to be called a system, becomes less doubtful all the time. Educational magazines, some leaders and a few schools are doing something about it. This college, occupying the position it does, might well do some experimenting along the same lines. It might well be among the first to discard a grotesque, unfair and woefully over-worked method of discrimination.

When a teacher gives a "grade" some one is right then "classified." The professor says so. Let us see how it works:

Two freshmen enter college. On entrance exams one makes 240, the other 18. At the end of the first term the first makes all A's, the second all D's. Roughly, a difference of about 50%. This makes the facts inconsistent. Just going to college has made a whale of an increase in somebody's I. Q. And not only that, but it is impossible to go to school without being "classified"—by some one with a red pencil who knows about as much about doing it as, well about as much as just anybody. Not content to say "pass," "commendable work," "fail," or anything of that sort, it must be A, B, C, or some other letter.

Now to get down to actualities: A student makes C in a course one term. Seeing his chance, he wants to bring his "mark" up. He doesn't have much respect for the judgment of his teacher anyway, so he will try something new on him. And so he does. He makes it a point to be particularly nice to his Prof. and even does a little work for the high and mighty one. Not class work, mind you. The second term brings an A in the course.

Or one student tries writing two term papers in one course, one for himself and one for some one else. On one he works about twelve hours, on the other, less than three. Both are graded. The first has a B marked on it, the second an A. Perhaps there is something in a name.

Or one student feels the urge to do a little "cribbing" on a test. The urge is satisfied. The general result is the lowering of the better student's grades while raising those of the "cribber."

A teacher may be so obsessed with the grading "system" that when asked to hand in a grade on a student's efficiency, attitude, dependability, etc., on a certain outside job, it little matters that the teacher hasn't seen the student for any number of weeks, and never on the job, the grade goes in anyway. Then that settles it. THAT student is classified.

Then it seems that a system so spurious that the grades may be enormously influenced by a statement of an administrator that high grades are too easily made is hardly a substantial one.

Should the Honeymoon Be Abolished and Why?

(Contributed)

As an institution right after marriage, I say, "Yes." This question inevitably confronts those who are about to venture forth into the matrimonial world. They are constantly looking upon the name honeymoon as a traditional institution, to be conformed with at any cost. We are living that age of today and not that of yesterday. So I present the following argument in keeping with my declaration above, that the honeymoon, as an institution, should be abolished.

Before the fall of '29, this country was in a merry whirl. Florida realized millions in swamps. Capitalists as well as the small man made money wherever there was such a thing. Of course money could be spent, and spent freely. There seemed to be no such a thing as a person out of work. So people made money and splurged it. One of the things that the ordinary man splurged on was an unnecessary honeymoon. This institution was gilded in splendor, yet seeping with the rot of tradition. A liberal world gone mad over the gold that this country prospered on.

A man in a certain community one day asked his neighbor in disgust, "Where in the hell have we gone?" The neighbor replied, "Just that—hell." As the pendulum swings one way, it in turn swings back the other. So for the liberal yesterday we are the conservative of today. Where are the fabulous riches? Where are the good jobs? What have become of the large employment houses?

Still, we see the honeymoon cropping up here and there. The ordinary working man gets a job. He falls in love, he asks for a short vacation in which to get married. He then spends all his meagre savings on an insignificant honeymoon. What has this profited him? Instead of doing him good, it has put him in the wrong place. Where is the money for insurance, doctor bills and the other necessary things coming from? Possibly, let us say, from the relief office.

On the other hand we see the fellow with a small job wanting to get married. The girl wants to take an unnecessary trip. She expects more than he can afford to give her. Sensing his financial disability, he will defer his marriage, and possibly never lead a normal married life. Why not make marriage one continual honeymoon? Trips and other superficial things can wait until a later date.

The tendency of society today is to recognize the equality of woman. She has won a place in the factory and in the profession. She can go to the polls and vote for the man or woman who helps control the destiny of the country. With changing society comes a new philosophy.

The institution of honeymoon belongs to that of yesterday. As we turn back the pages of our own history a few years we see the woman dependent upon the man. The word of man was law. The woman could exert little or no initiative. Her

COLLEGE HONORS FAMOUS SCIENTIST

MAN WHO HAS REVOLUTION-
IZED NAVAL STORES INDUS-
TRY VISITS COLLEGE AS STU-DENTS UNVEIL MARKER.

The things closest to us are those farthest away. An inquisitive young scientist from Milledgeville, Ga., proved this to himself and many others thirty-four years ago. When confronted by the words of an old German professor that "you have no industry in the South; you're butchering the trees," Dr. Charles H. Herty, deeply impressed and very indignant, returned to America and the South determined to prove that the German was wrong and "tell him about it by mail" or if he was right, to do his best to improve the situation.

After many hardships Dr. Herty secured $75 and some land at Statesboro to experiment on. Getting Frank Klarpp, a young Statesboro boy "who wasn't so set in his ways," to join with him, he began his experiment on the campus of South Georgia Teachers College which resulted in the revolutionary invention of the Herty turpentine cup.

Recently, in honor of this forward step and in recognition of his ingenuity, a memorial tablet was unveiled at the pine on which Dr. Herty hung his first cup. The pine is still alive, tall and stately.

Despite criticism, pessimism and countless drawbacks, Dr. Herty kept on and has saved millions of trees and millions of dollars in the South. Not content to save the pine tree, he began to devise means of utilizing products from the trees. The result was the biggest news the south has known in many years.

From the lofty southern pines Dr. Herty has created white paper, stationery, books, and newsprint paper. Indeed, to us who are facing the decision of what to do, we find a new avenue opened to us. In the South's change there will be great uplifting and prestige, in fact a salvation. There will be a new industry to throw "King Cotton" a little from his throne and let the "dyed-in-the-wool" Southerners know there is another industry other than planting cotton. It will be cheaper and more can be produced in less time than ever before.

Still another use of the pine has been the cellulose. Indeed, we find the best source of this in the southern states. A few ways to utilize this is in paper and rayon, artificial leather, celluloid, varnishes, transparent wrappers, paper mache and a host of other things. We find these are in fields where there is much opportunity and wealth.

Today in the South there are more than 100,000,000 acres of unproductive land waiting to give the owners wealth, if only utilized properly. The slash pine from which this culture is obtained, is the most rapidly growing of pines.

As all of us are Georgians and live here, where so much has been done to revolutionize a great industry, and should be moved to bigger and nobler deeds. We should be inspired by this inquisitive young Georgian, hard-working, indefatigable and with an indomitable will.

With the foundation laid, the avenues pointed out, some of us should be inspired to follow our worthy example. We are fortunate in being Georgians, but even more so by being at T. C., where a revelation in the history of industry was begun by a fellow Georgian.

Whether we are to be scientists or not, but in any profession we choose, let us remember Dr. Charles H. Herty and let this be a goal for which we strive, to do our part in improving in our way the profession we choose.

Teaching is offering a tremendous field in which we have ample opportunity to give it a place among other professions which cannot be scorned by any. A more worthy goal backed by a better instigator and inspiration could not be found.

—M. M. B.

Somebody suggests that the reason the federal relief appropriation was fixed at $4,800,000,000 is that the number is easy to divide. There are 48 states, which make it a hundred millions to a state.

The inscription on the tablet reads: "On this tree, on July 20, 1901, the first cup and gutter for collecting gum turpentine was hung by Dr. Charles H. Herty and his assistant, Frank Klarpp. Here began a revolution in the naval stores industry."

GIRLS GET JOBS THROUGH YWCA's

Local Groups Make Report on Their 1934 Activities.

Y. W. C. A.'s throughout the country placed 25,000 more girls in jobs during 1934 than in the previous year, according to annual reports recently compiled by the national board in New York.

The total of 107,000 girls placed last year by the employment bureaus included those that obtained both permanent and temporary work. The figures issued do not indicate the entire scope of Y. W. C. A. activities since ten per cent of the community groups did not send in reports.

Free meals, shelter, small loans, clothing and other forms of emergency relief were given to 46,000 women and girls during the year, despite the fact that Y. W. C. A.'s are not set up for meeting relief needs. Free recreation in swimming, gymnasium and in games and informal play was provided for 142,000 girls, the health education departments reported.

Figures from the reports reveal that at least 2,000,000 individuals were reached throughout the country by the program and services of the various associations.

A considerable increase in the adult education classes was noted. More than 208,00 women and girls signed up for study with a wide range of subjects available, planned to meet each community's needs. Technical training courses and those giving girls better skill in meeting requirements of business positions were popular, with English, French and Spanish among the languages most in demand. Charm, poise and self-expression were listed among the courses on personality cultivation. Girls were also interested in sociology, psychology and philosophy as well as in current events, handicrafts and citizenship.

More than 86,000 girls who work in the club and group activities of the association; 125,000 young women in business offices; 325,000 girl reserves, who form the junior membership, and 12,000 girls engaged in household work. What an Old-Timer Thinks Of His Years at Blue Ridge

Reunion to Be Held by Former Students Late in August. Five Hundred to Attend.

It is a glorious company—these college men and women who have worked and studied at Blue Ridge during the past twenty-three summers. Many of these are now full professors, others are well-to-do business men. All are doing worth while things. They will meet at Blue Ridge

August 25-31, 1935, to recount old experiences, tell of recent victories, and get an inspiration and a new vision for the future. There will be two lectures each day interpreting recent social and religious trends—and then there will be outdoor parties, indoor talks feasts, and a glorious good time. Blue Ridge invites all former P. W.'s to be her guests in rooms for the week, and bring the husband

DEPUTATION TEAM VISITS 18 CITIES

Gives Two Programs of Music and Talks Each Sunday. Visits End in June.

The deputation team of the YM and YWCA has visited and given programs in eighteen towns and cities of this section of the state during its spring season. The team, under the supervision of R. L. Winburn, YMCA sponsor, is comprised of Alton Ellis, Griffin; George Carter, Cusseta; Delmas Wheeler, Soperton; Torrence Brady, Savannah; Leonard Kent, Summitt; Sara Kate Scarboro, Garfield, and Grace Cromley, Brooklet.

This team gives two programs of music and inspirational talks each Sunday. So far this season the team has visited at the following places:

Guyton	Metter
Sylvania	Savannah
Collins	Hiltonia
Lyons	Wrightsville
Reidsville	Swainsboro
Soperton	Waynesboro
Shiloh	Louisville
Claxton	Baxley
Pembroke	Waycross

BROWN SHEET ON PINE PULP

According to a news story in the Atlanta Journal recently the first pine pulp paper to be used as a rotogravure sheet was run off "without a hitch." The Journal used the paper for its rotogravure section last Sunday. Dr. Chas. H. Herty, present for the first trial, was said to be quite "well pleased" with the results.

STUDENTS MEET AT BLUE RIDGE

MORE THAN ONE HUNDRED COLLEGES TO BE REPRESENTED AT THIRTIETH ANNUAL MEET.

This year's Southern Student Conference will again be held at Blue Ridge, North Carolina, where it has met for the past few years.

This conference has for thirty years been the meeting of southern Christian students. The flowers of student leaders have come together year after year and in the midst of most perfect surroundings have seen new visions of life—and met with hundreds of other students who are also interested in the problems of the campus.

More than a hundred colleges will probably be represented at the student conference this summer at Blue Ridge, June 11-21. This will enable every delegate to have conference with scores of students from other colleges similar to their own and having similar problems. The program is set with the idea of giving students themselves the largest possible share in the ongoing events.

There will be a college conference hour in which all the pressing problems of the college campus will be discussed. There will be a special group for the student presidents, one for the finance chairmen, one for community service leaders, one for leaders of forum hours and for various other special tasks.

The evening hours will be given to widening the horizons and lifting the spiritual visions of students. Very important speakers and lecturers will appear at these hours. Among the speakers and leaders who have been invited are: Dr. Charles S. Gilkey, dean of University Chapel, University of Chicago; Francis Miller, of the World Student Christian Federation; President Frank Graham, University of North Carolina; Ray Currier, of the Student Volunteer Movement; Miss Winifred Wygal, of the Y. W. C. A. national board; Dr. W. D. Weatherford, president of Y. M. C.

1934-35 "Y" RECORD TO BE IN LIBRARY

Record to Be Kept of Broad and Varied Activities of the Year—Snapshots Included.

Believing that the things of the past hold a charm, the Y. M. C. A. has kept a rather accurate record of its work for 1934-35 in the form of a scrap book. The program of the "Y" for this year has been broad and varied, and the purpose of the scrap book is to leave as a permanent record some of the things which it has accomplished. For this reason the book will be left in the library as a future reference for any one desiring to look back into "the pages of history."

The contents of the book consists of excerpts from the George-Anne dealing with "Y" news, samples of vesper programs given during the year, special activities and snapshots of various campus scenes and personalities, which might prove interesting to future readers. Since the "Y" is an active organization and the scrap book is a record of the year's work, it will be completed only with the last day of the school year.

THRASH SPEAKER ON COLLEGE MOVE

Invites Visitors From this Institution. No charge for Meals.

President J. M. Thrash, of the South Georgia State College at Douglas, visited the campus recently and made a delightful impromptu talk in chapel.

The guiding hand of our sister institution at Douglas gave a short history of the small college movement in Georgia, commended South Georgia Teachers College on its rapid growth and extended to the students and faculty a warm invitation to visit his institution.

CARO LANE ASKED TO SERVE IN 1936

ASSOCIATION PRESIDENT COMMENDS HER WORK AND ASKS THAT SHE ENLARGE EXHIBIT.

Miss Caro Lane, head of the physical education department at South Georgia Teachers College, has been asked by Dr. Harry A. Scott, president of Rice Institute and also president of the Southern Physical Education Association, to take charge of all educational exhibits at next year's physical education convention.

Miss Lane was in charge of the professional exhibit at this year's convention, held in Atlanta four weeks ago, and Dr. Scott was so pleased with her work that he has asked her to assume the responsibility of all exhibits of an educational nature for next year.

Miss Lane has been active in the work of the association for many years and was influential in the organization of the Georgia unit, which she served as president in 1933.

This recognition of Miss Lane's work by the association is also a recognition of physical training activities at the college here.

Miss Lane is remembered as the representative from the state of Georgia to the national association convention last year in Cleveland, where she won $200, but was so wholly concerned to get back to T. C. that she didn't bother to call for the reward, and some one else got it.

WAA GROUP OFF TO TYBEE BEACH

NINETEEN ON ANNUAL BEACH
OUTING PARTY. MISS LANE
AND MRS. DYER TO ATTEND.

After a full year's happy anticipation of the event, the Woman's Athletic Association has just set the date for its spring vacation at Tybee beach. Nineteen persons will be in the party staging this annual outing at the seashore. The group will leave the campus on Saturday afternoon, May 11, and return on Sunday night. While at the beach the young ladies will live in the same cottages they use every year.

If tradition is followed at least some of the group will be confined to their beds with sunburn when the party is over.

Gwen Dekle, new president of the W. A. A., has announced that the following people will take the trip: Gwen Dekle, Nancy Young, Mary Margaret Blitch, Jewelle Greene, Katherine Yeomans, Helen Olliff, Victoria Cone, Louise Rozier, Eloise Graham, Virginia Edenfield, Elizabeth Burns, Mattie Cain, Lillian Simmons, Katherine Simmons, Mary Jane Hodges, Mildred Smith, Laura Hickey, Mabel Rucker, Miss Caro Lane and Mrs. Byon Dyer.

Every person who is a member of a committee, or cabinet member, will get great help from this conference. The college songs, the recreation hour, with swimming, boating and athletic events; the mountain climbs and the fellowship will make a new world for hundreds of students.

Some of the state groups are organizing bus parties or a motorcade to take fifty or more from the state to the conference. Whoever helps students get to this conference will confer a great favor on them and perform a great service for the colleges represented.

Courses in "Use of Leisure" will be offered next year at Whitman College,

STEPHENS SOCIETY SUGGESTS CHANGES

Sara Kate Scarboro and Dick Saunders Encored in Interesting Program.

A program given by the Stephens Literary Society in chapel last week proved quite interesting and suggestive of reforms.

The program, having two numbers encored, the crooning of Dick Saunders and the collegiate rhythm tunes of Sara Kate Scarboro, was centered around college life. Following Saunders and Scarboro, Delmas Wheeler and Grace Cromley sang two songs.

The second part of the program was in the form of a "bull session." Suggestions for improving T. C. were made in conversation. Some were applauded, others got the razzberries. The comments received interested attention. One student diagnosed a person in the session as suffering from a serious case of "exteriority complex."

The Oglethorpe Literary Society will give its annual program soon.

SHOULD THE HONEYMOON BE ABOLISHED AND WHY?

trips very seldom carried her many miles from home. She was bound to her parents. Custom and tradition tied her in a knot that was hard to untangle. The marriage ceremony was looked forward to as a great event. But still greater the honeymoon. It was a gala day for the bride and the groom to go about a hundred miles from home for a few days; but what about today?

A few years ago the institution of the honeymoon was thought of as a period in which the couple got away from everybody they knew and learned to like each other better. But this is an old conception. The girl and boy of today meet each other upon a common ground. The girl has had just as many opportunities as the boy. They do not have to hide in secret to learn the truths of life, but have already met and solved them.

The honeymoon as an institution should be abolished. Marriage should not be tied down with such unconventional, superficial lines. If the man and woman can well afford a trip at marriage, all good and well. But what about the influence upon that poor person who wants to get married. A joint trip can be made later in life. It will be happier. Possibly the home will be magnified and the joys will be even greater than that of the wedding day.

TRAINING SCHOOL TO HAVE PLAY DAY

STUDENT TEACHERS TO ASSIST
MRS. BILL BOWEN IN DIREC-TION OF EVENT.

A play day in which all the students of the Training School will participate is soon to be observed, directed by Mrs. Bill Bowen, physical education director of the group. Student teachers will assist Mrs. Bowen in staging this event, designed to make for keen competition among the children without a spirit of bitter rivalry.

Tentative arrangements for the play day have been made but the definite date is not yet decided upon. It is known, however, that the children will be divided into four groups, each group bearing a certain color and will compete for play day honors.

BACHELORS CLUB TO GIVE PLAY

Wednesday morning in chapel the Bachelors Club will give a one-act play called "Bachelors Forever." A chorus will be featured in two dance numbers. All pledges and old members of the club will take part in the program.

TO GOSSIPERS

Many a morning, dull and gray
I get me up to venture forth,
To hear discussed in every way
Just what I did the night before.
How they find out I never know;
Who told them this I cannot tell;
I know not how the rumors go,
So far and wide, so quick and well.
So when I am accused of things
Which I hoped would not be known,
I console myself, and think
'Tis no one's business but my own.

BOYS' SOCIAL CLUB TO ENTERTAIN 100

SPRING BANQUET OF BACHELORS CLUB AT COLUMNS' TEA ROOM SATURDAY EVENING.

A hundred guests are expected to attend the spring banquet of the Bachelors Club next Saturday evening at The Columns' Tea Room in Statesboro. In addition to old members and those recently initiated and their dates, many who have graduated will be back for this outstanding social event.

Weather permitting, the banquet dinner will be served on the spacious front lawn of The Columns'. Mrs. W. H. Aldred, who is in charge of the affair, is making extensive plans to assure everyone a good time.

The program is to be rather short. It is not customary to divulge the nature of this part of the entertainment, but it is known that Sara Kate Scarboro, Shelby Monroe, Jim Wrinkle, Delmas Wheeler, Grace Cromley and others will take part.

This affair marks the eighth anniversary of the Bachelors Club. Misses Ruth Bolton and Marie Wood sponsor the group.

Haymans went "iron-man" and pitched the game Wednesday, after having been on the rubber for four innings in Tuesday's game. The Blue Tide won this one also after an eleven-inning struggle. The "Profs" were on the big end of the score, 10-4, but Cochran scored six runs in the last half of the ninth inning; both teams scored two markers in the tenth, the Teachers finally pulling out in the eleventh to win by one run.

CITADEL TEACHER ADDED TO STAFF

PROFESSOR FROM CHARLESTON
TO BE MEMBER OF SUMMER SCHOOL FACULTY.

Captain Ralph M. Lyon, associate professor of education at The Citadel, Charleston, S. C., has accepted a position for this summer at the South Georgia Teachers College and will teach courses in curriculum and curriculum making.

A Citadel graduate, Captain Lyon has held fellowships at North Carolina University and the Education Board Fellowship at Columbia University. He received his B. S. degree at The Citadel in Charleston, S. C., in 1923, his M. A. in 1926, and is now a candidate for the Ph. D. in curriculum construction at Columbia.

He has recently completed a dissertation on the topic: "Adult Education for Carolina Cotton Mill Workers; a Curriculum Study," which will be published this summer. Captain Lyon says of his treatise, "The study not only examines southern mill life and indicates weaknesses in the life of cotton mill operatives, but proposes a plan for introducing an adult education program in the Carolina mill village." His mill study has attracted the attention of a number of educators. Recently Captain Lyon was called to Washington to consult with certain educators regarding its use in connection with FERA programs in the South.

Captain Lyon is a native of Abbeville, S. C. Attending the schools of that city, he entered The Citadel in 1919, graduating in 1923 with the rank of second lieutenant. He returned to The Citadel as associate professor of history in 1927 until 1932 when he went to Columbia University to complete his studies in Education. On his second return to The Citadel he was made associate professor of education. Captain Lyon has been instrumental in certain progressive curriculum changes made in the last year at the military college. Likewise, he takes active interest in guiding the discussions of the Round Table, the literary organization of Citadel, which he founded in 1927.

The University of Wisconsin has opened a night club on the university campus. The club has a regular floor show and a master of ceremonies. Yes, there is a catch in it, because only 3.2 beer is sold, but the volume of sale of this beverage surpasses that of any of the local night clubs or taverns.

T'CHIN'S

(By GEE DEE)

T'chin's returns—but luckily for sports fans—for just a visit. As guest sports editor, we feel honored to contribute our small part to this special edition. Here's wishing our faithful (?) readers more and better sports in subsequent editions.

The Teachers baseball team ran into their old road-trip jinx on their first trip of the season, dropping three out of four contests.

"General" Lee made his debut as a starting pitcher against Norman Junior College, going great guns for seven innings. Another "Freshie" pitcher, "Abie" Abelson, is showing up better in every game. We're looking for great things from these two hurlers as soon as they get a few more games under their belts. Congrats!

AND THE CHAMP LOST ONE! Wilkins Smith ran into just a little more stuff than he expected when he met Clower, of South Georgia State. Wilkins claims that it was just what he needed to make him cut out his clowning. We'll see!

The award for the best performance of the entire match goes to "Bitsy" Settles for his singles victory and then his and Munch's win in doubles. The "little man" was the only member of the team who had his shots working, and how he took advantage of it!

The track team managed to pull out one first place in their meet with Brewton-Parker. The half-mile relay team accounted for those lone five points. Jack Ryals divided honors in the high jump when he and the B.-P. I. entrant tied for first place. The outstanding second place was Thornton, who got off to a bad start in the hundred, but pulled up to within a fraction of a stride of the winner.

Charlie Paine, number one man in the dashes, has been held back all season by a bad leg, as has Rahn, pole vaulter. The rest of the tracksters are in excellent shape for the meet with the University of Georgia "Rats." The Bull Dog Freshmen boast a team made up of the cream of high school track men from all parts of the state. Here's wishing T. C. luck and lots of it!

It is rumored that track coach, Jay Westcott, will be an Olympic candidate in 1936. Whether he does or not, we have to hand it to him . . . he can really step over the high hurdles. Best we've ever seen.

And, incidentally, Mr. Westcott deserves to be congratulated for his work in building a track team from very little and a decent track from even less material.

And the "Profs" won two more by one-run margins! And such freak ball games they were. Cochran went down in the first game in nine innings, but was more stubborn in the Tuesday game, fighting for eleven innings before submitting to the Teachers.

"Jake" Hines rubbed it in by getting two homers in the series. It will be remembered that Hines was responsible for M. G. C.'s football defeat.

Martin did the very unusual by getting four bases on a bunt. Two errors on Cochran's part accounted for the three extra bases.

T'CHIN'S says "Au revoir!"

DONALDSON REVIEWS OFF-AND-ON SPORTS AT T. C. FOR PAST WEEKS

SOPHS WIN AGAIN IN CLASS MEETS

The Sophomores are the winners again! In the finals of the inter-class baseball tournament last Tuesday afternoon they defeated the Seniors by a score of 33 to 18, giving them their third championship for the year.

The Sophomore class has won the volleyball and soccer tournaments, and were also second in the basketball tournament, before winning this final match. Those who played on the winning baseball team are Rae McKown, Lillian Eason, Nancy Young, Monie Kicklighter, Polly Lanier, Mary Lee, Rosa Dell Jones, Marjorie Rivers, Sally Smith and Eloise Daughtry.

IRC ACTIVITIES TO END MAY 19

GROUP OFF TO TYBEE FOR PICNIC—YEAR'S WORK REVIEWED.

The International Relations Club is to terminate its year's activities with a picnic at Tybee Beach on May 19.

This club, though little publicity has been given it, has been carrying on a splendid program of stimulating and provocative discussions for the entire school year. General and specific issues relative to current affairs in international relations have come in for special treatment from time to time, and through these the IRC members have come to hold the organization in high respect.

Begun in the fall of 1934 largely through the efforts of Dr. C. M. Destler, history professor, the IRC has held discussion sessions semi-monthly since. The club is managed by a steering committee, composed of a chairman, secretary and treasurer. This committee for next year includes Gwendolyn Dekle, Harry Zalusus and Ida Mae Hagan.

In its beginning the IRC was given various books and pamphlets by the Carnegie Foundation and has been adding to its materials all year, all of which deals with world affairs.

In order to be eligible for membership, students must have a scholastic average of C or above, be a member of the Junior or Senior class, and must have taken, or be taking some history course above 300.

The last meeting of the club for this year will be on Friday evening, May 10, at the home of Dr. Destler.

Sophomores who wish to become members may apply to Gwendolyn Dekle, who will present the names to the club for selection. Students majoring in history are especially urged to join.

A lot of cities now have a municipal automobile tax which they call a wheel tax. A real wheel tax so far as a lot of folks are concerned would be the same as a head tax.

ROAD JINX BROKEN BY BASEBALL TEAM

TENNIS TEAM DEFEATS A. B.; TIES MERCER, THEN GETS IT IN THE NECK.

TENNIS

Abraham Baldwin

The Teachers recqueters took the Abraham Baldwin tennis team into camp on the opponents' courts, losing only one doubles match on a card of four singles and two doubles matches.

Mercer

Mercer put up more opposition, holding the "Profs" to a tie. Each team took two singles and one doubles match. Wilkins Smith, Teacher's No. 1 man, featured this match when he beat the Mercer and City of Macon champion in straight sets, coming back in the final set from a score of 1-5 to win 7-5.

Douglas

The Teachers expected an easy battle with the Douglas team, but were surprised and defeated, winning only one singles and two doubles matches.

"Little Man" Settles pulled out the only singles match when he defeated the Douglas No. 3 man in straight sets and then teamed with Munch to take a doubles match. Smith and Wilkes won the other match in doubles for the Teachers, 6-2, 6-3.

BASEBALL

Road Trip

The "Profs" lost three out of four on their first road trip, splitting a series with Douglas and dropping two contests to Norman Junior College.

Haymans went the entire game on the mound for the Teachers in the first of the Douglas series, allowing only three runs, but his mates could score only two.

Abelson started the second game against the South Georgia Staters, being relieved by Ratley, who received credit for winning the game, which went ten innings. The Teachers got revenge for their defeat the day before when they took a two run lead in the tenth.

Starting another ten-inning battle, Lee pitched great ball for seven innings against Norman Park, only to see the Teachers drop another game by one run. Hayman finished the game. Score: 3-2.

Norman got to Ratley and Abelson in the second game for six runs while the Blue Tide was getting only two. Score: 6-2.

Brewton-Parker Institute

Coach Smith used five pitchers, Abelson, Ratley, Harrison, Lee and Woodard, in an attempt to stop a hard-hitting Brewton-Parker nine here in the second game of the series. The boys from Mt. Vernon came out on the big end of the score: 13-8.

Cochran

The Teachers finally broke the road trip jinx and took two games from Middle Georgia College, each game being won by a one-point margin.
